garden design with a difference

Award winning at the Chelsea Flower Show

In May 2003 HG Landscapes was the main contractor for the construction of a show garden at the Chelsea Flower Show.

We teamed up with the Pickard School of Garden Design to create the 'Old & The New Pub Garden' sponsored by Ember Inns. The garden was awarded a Silver Gilt by the RHS.

Our design transforms the typical pub garden of randomly placed wooden tables, chairs and hanging baskets, into an inviting, intimate space for the enjoyment of customers. Materials such as acrylic and rubber, not usually associated with gardens, are combined with old favourites such as pebbles and bricks, to appeal to young and old alike.

Set against the backdrop of a weathered brick wall, tall formally shaped yew hedges set within angular steel cages provide a marked contrast against the colour, texture and foliage of the surrounding herbaceous planting. Contemporary, yet comfortable rubber-topped seating enables customers to relax and enjoy the bubbling columns, shimmering in the centre of the garden under the dappled shade of the tree canopy.
